

Using Prepositions Correctly

I. WHAT I NEED TO KNOW.

Hi, How are you today?

We will discover how to use prepositions correctly. Are you ready?

II. WHAT I KNOW.

- Let us start with a very simple test . In the next page you will find 3 sentences. Complete the sentences by choosing the right preposition.
Can you do it?

II. WHAT I KNOW.

Here are the prepositions you can choose from: in , on , between.

1. The dog is _____ the table.
2. I am _____ the house.
3. Mona is _____ mother and father.

You may ask you parents , brothers and sisters, lolo , lola to check your answer.

If you made some mistakes, do not worry. We are all here to learn.

2. WHAT IS NEW.

Let us read ,the poem
“You and I.” After reading, write down the words written in red on your notebooks.

Come in.
Sit with me.
A gift for you
A rode from me.
Listen to the bird
Singing for you and me.

Did you write the same words as I did?

in with for from at

The words in, with, for, from at are prepositions.

Prepositions connect or link nouns, pronouns with other words in a sentence.
